BOOK STUDY

FACILITATED BY CORRIE RAY
ROE12 ASSISTANT
REGIONAL SUPERINTENDENT

Are genes destiny? Not nearly as much as we think.

The Talent Code by Daniel Coyle explains how talent grows in the brain and how you can grow more of it in the classroom, music, the arts, or athletics. We will discuss various topics related to deep practice, ignition, and master teaching to help you become a better teacher and/or coach. We will divide the book into three sections and discuss them in three two-hours sessions with in-person and virtual options.

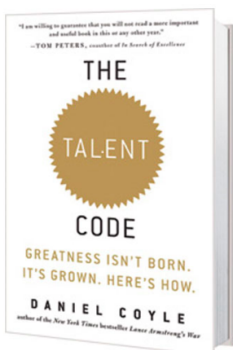

Meeting 1: 06/12/25 10 AM - 12 PM Pgs 1-94
Meeting 2: 06/26/25 10 AM - 12 PM Pgs 95-156
Meeting 3: 07/10/25 10 AM - 12 PM Pgs 157-221

All meetings are in-person with a virtual participation option
Location: ROE12 PD Center — 407 S. Whittle Ave. — Olney, IL

Discussion questions will be provided to help guide discussion to address the most important topics in the book. As a result of this study, attendees will not only have ideas on how to better develop talent, but also the science behind it.
